HATTIESBURG, Miss. — The University of Southern Mississippi struck for a pair of first half touchdowns and then held onto to defeat West Texas State's stubborn Buffaloes 14-7 here Saturday night before 11,500 fans.

The Southerners were slowed by WTSU's aggressive defense during most of the contest. The alert Buffalo defense picked off three passes by Buddy Palazzo and recovered one fumble, but the Buffaloes suffered the same number of turnovers — three interceptions and a fumble.

Southern pushed 57 yards in six plays to score the game's opening touchdown. Palazzo passed the final 30 to Marshall Veal and Ray Guy kicked the conversion to give the Southerners a 7-0 lead with 11:35 left in the first quarter.

Terence Wells climaxed a 52-yard push midway in the second quarter with a 20-yard touchdown run. Guy converted to complete the scoring for the winners.

They drove 52 yards in six plays after a fumble by Mike Wartes, Buff quarterback.

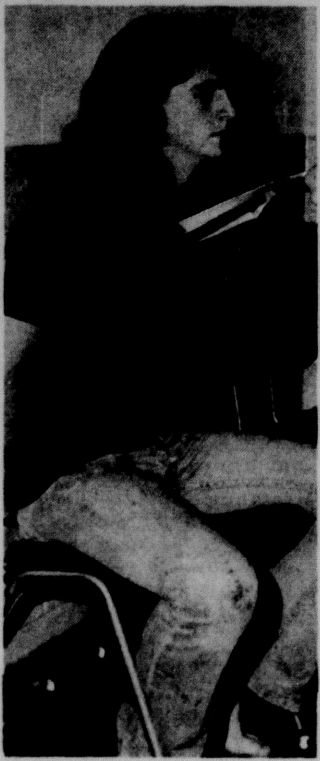

Cornerback Johnny McDowell set up WTSU's lone touchdown late in the third quarter when he intercepted a Palazzo pass and returned it 32 yards to the Southern Mississippi 13. Two plays later, Jimmy Lisle ran the final nine yards with 12 seconds remaining in the third quarter. Arcadio Rivera added the 7th point.

The Buffs host New Mexico State at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Kimbrough Stadium in the Missouri Valley Conference clash which is also the homecoming game for West Texas.

The Buffalo ground game netted only 97 yards, its low of the season, as compared to 128 for Southern Miss.

Billy Pritchett led the Buffalo ball carriers with 53 yards in 13 carries. Lisle was next with 42 yards in 13.

The loss evened West Texas State's record for the season at 2-2.

Deputy Recil Johnson, Canyon Police Chief Al Stewart and Sheriff Cliff Longest look over list of suspects before the drug raid Thursday night which netted the man above and five others.

BY CARROLL WILSON

A massive drug raid, the largest in the history of Amarillo, netted six of 11 suspects Thursday night wanted on warrants in Randall County for sale of everything from marijuana to a cocaine derivative.

Sixty-one alleged drug offenders were sought by 68 officers, including deputies from the Randall County Sheriff's office, during the raid which began at 6:30 p.m. Thursday and continued until early Friday morning.

Eleven alleged sellers of dangerous drugs were sought on adult warrants and five or six juveniles were also wanted on warrants in Randall County.

The six arrested Thursday night and arraigned before Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill"

Wilson include Larry Allan Cate, two counts of sale of marijuana; Richard Alan Ford, sale of marijuana; Allan Dean Manning, sale of marijuana; Marvin Leon Peace, sale of marijuana; Edward Gene Jackson, sale of barbiturate; and Roy Dale Hodges, sale of LSD.

Cate and Ford were freed from Randall County Jail Friday after posting bond of $5,000 on each charge.

All suspects wanted and arrested were from South Amarillo. No cases in Canyon or on the West Texas State University campus were sought in the Thursday raid.

Three undercover agents, two from the Department of Public Service narcotics service and one operating for the City of Amarillo, worked four months making cases which led to the raid.

Drugnet Differs From Those In Past

BY JIM SANDS

"Sure, I've sold grass a time or two... but I'm not a pusher." That was what one youthful suspect arrested in Thursday night's two-county drug raid said of the charge against him. The boy, in his late teens, went on to explain that on the few occasions that he had supplied marijuana to someone, he had "done it as a favor."

The young suspect said the drug sale charge was his first brush with the law. He added that he had given marijuana away "once or twice" and had simply been a middle-man supplier to "friends."

"I guess one of the 'friends' must have been a narc," he concluded.

Another youth simply claimed that he had been the apparent victim of incorrect identification. He denied being involved in drugs in any manner and cited past instances of undercover agents making mistakes in identification.

"It has happened before," the suspect said.

The sweeping drugnet which hit in both Randall and Potter Counties, the fifth major raid in recent years, was somewhat different from those dating back to 1968, a Metro Intelligence Unit officer said.

The officer claimed much of the "cloak and dagger" aspect associated with past undercover operations was missing this time, although the agents did use code names and met secretly to pass along information and evidence.

Operating independent of a state investigation, the city undercover agent made his first "buy," on June 2. From that time (See DRUGNET, Page 2)

Suits Filed Here Against Knowles

Two civil suits alleging misrepresentations in a stock transaction have been filed in 181st District Court against a prominent Canyon businessman and civic leader.

The suits, filed against car dealer Eddie Knowles, past president of the Chamber of Commerce, were answered this week by Knowles and his attorney.

The suits were filed by Dale Ladd and Gene Gates of Pampa. Together, the suits seek more than $28,000 in recovery and damages.

The suits allege that about Sept. 20, 1968, Knowles "deliberately deceived the plaintiff by purportedly entering into contract to sell" 1,000 shares of common stock of Agricultural Computing Co., Inc.

Knowles, according to the suits, contracted to sell the stock for $4,000 each to Ladd and Gates and Knowles represented to the two Pampans that he owned the stock and had authority to sell it.

Knowles' representations were false, the suits allege.

The suit says the two plaintiffs discovered the false representation a year later in September of 1971.

The plaintiffs allege that Knowles did not own stock in Agricultural Computing Co., Inc., at the time the contract was executed and does not now own stock in the company.

Each suit seeks the return of the original $4,000 plus 6 per cent interest per year and exemplary damages of $10,000 plus attorneys' fees.

Gov. Candidate Sets City Visit

The Republican gubernatorial candidate is planning a visit to Canyon and West Texas State University over the last weekend this month.

Hank Grover, a Democrat who changed hats in the mid-1960s, tentatively plans to visit the city Oct. 27 or 28 during a Winnebago motor home tour of major Texas metropolitan areas.

Claudia Stravato, who is associated with the WTSU Young Republicans, said the candidate is currently scheduled to speak on campus and visit Canyon's business district.

A teacher turned politician Grover faces Democrat Dolph Briscoe, said by many to be a shoe-in for the governor's seat, in the November general election.

Grover's appearance here will be the first stop he's made in Canyon since campaigning began before the primaries.

The Houston educator comes into the general election after winning the second primary runoff election back in the spring with 66 per cent of the vote.

A relative unknown in this part of the state, Grover has visited briefly in Amarillo on occasion.

Grover, 45, is a fourth generation Texan who received his bachelor's degree from the University of St. Thomas in Houston in 1952, his masters degree from the University of Houston in 1962 and who has pursued doctoral level work at the University of Texas in Aus-

Whether or not Randall County residents will even have the chance to vote on a local option for the sale of liquor and liquor by the drink will be decided today.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton said midnight tonight is the deadline for petitions calling for a local option election to be turned into his office for certification.

Petitions calling for the election in the South Amarillo portion of the county began pouring into Hutton's office Wednesday.

Through late Friday, he had not seen any petitions calling for a similar election in Canyon. Nor had he heard from any petition circulators concerning the deadline.

The county clerk said he had received and qualified just over 2,000 names on petitions submitted from South Amarillo through Friday afternoon. He said he had disqualified about 1,000 names on the same petitions.

Pushers for the local option vote in South Amarillo need 3,715 names certified as correct on their petitions before an election may be called. Petitions returned from the Canyon area need nearly 900 names before an election may be called here.

Late Friday, it appeared petitions containing enough signatures would be forthcoming to call the election.

James Vinyard, who filed for the petitions a month ago, said Friday he expected no trouble gaining enough signatures by tonight to call the election in the South Amarillo area.

He said that as of Wednesday, more than 600 signatures had been gathered in Canyon. He was confident that the required signatures here would also be obtained.

Hutton said he would be in his office much of the day today to receive the final petitions "but I won't be here until midnight."

If enough signatures are obtained in Canyon and South Amarillo, Hutton will certify the petitions to Randall County Commissioners Monday afternoon and they will in turn set a date for the local option election.

Commissioners had indicated last week they will probably set the election to occur in con-

Hereford Man, Wife Killed In Pickup-Truck Accident

A Hereford man and his wife were killed at 3:58 p.m. Saturday in a pickup-truck collision at U.S. 60 and Buffalo Lake Road in Umbarger.

The dead were identified as Hascal Dugden Robbins, 75, and his wife, Velma Harper Robbins, 57, both of Hereford.

They were pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson.

The pickup in which the Robbins were riding was crushed by the impact when their vehicle was in collision with a loaded cattle truck driven by a Hereford man.

Canyon firemen worked more than an hour trying to free the body of Robbins from the demolished cab of the pickup.

Firemen were also standing by to water down diesel fuel which spewed from the cattle truck's tanks and into the gutter of U.S. 60.

Driver of the cattle truck was Larry R. Williams, 28, of Friona. Williams was eastbound on U.S. 60 when the accident occurred. Robbins was northbound on Buffalo Lake Road.

Following the collision, the cattle truck, under the power of momentum, pushed the pickup through the intersection and onto a gravel drive narrowly missing an Umbarger auto parts store on the north side of the highway.

Williams described the accident:

"There was a car in front of me and this fellow (Robbins) pulled out and he slowed down and it slowed me down some. This old boy just kept coming (Robbins) and I hit my breaks and I locked 'em down to keep from hitting him. He slowed down some and then kept on coming. I turned as far to the left as I could go and he came on out in front of me."

"I sat on the horn. I guess he didn't hear it."

Williams surmised that Robbins was going to attempt a turn from Buffalo Lake Road west onto U.S. 60.

The collision occurred in the middle of the intersection.

Harold Carson, 42, of Olton, a piano teacher, was traveling west on U.S. 60 when the accident occurred.

"I was getting ready to turn left and I heard a horn," he said. "I thought it was a train and I looked up and saw this — well, it looked like an explosion to me — and then this white trailer was coming toward me."

The white trailer was attached to the back of the Robbins pickup and apparently detached upon impact and spun around into Carson's late model vehicle. Carson was unhurt. His car ended up astride the center median at the intersection.

An unidentified man told The News he was waiting at the stop sign on Buffalo Lake Road right behind the Robbins' pickup when the accident occurred.

"The pickup pulled out in front of him," he said. "He might have been going west toward Hereford. I pulled on over and parked and came on over here and I knew before I got here they were dead."

Matt Albracht of Amarillo was on the north side of U.S. 60 at the stop sign at the Buffalo Lake Road intersection.

All he saw, though, was the cattle truck careening across the westbound lanes of the highway and to a standstill in front of the auto parts house.

Local funeral arrangements for the Robbins were made by LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Massive Drug Raid Nets 6 Of 11 Suspects In County

BY CARROLL WILSON

A massive drug raid, the largest in the history of Amarillo, netted six of 11 suspects Thursday night wanted on warrants in Randall County for sale of everything from marijuana to a cocaine derivative.

Sixty-one alleged drug offenders were sought by 68 officers, including deputies from the Randall County Sheriff's of-

Cate and Ford were freed from Randall County Jail Friday after posting bond of $5,000 on each charge.

All suspects wanted and arrested were from South Amarillo. No cases in Canyon or on the West Texas State University campus were sought in the Thursday raid.

Three undercover agents, two from the Department of Public Service narcotics service and one operating for the City of Amarillo, worked four months making cases which led to the raid.

Officers from the Amarillo Police Department, Potter County Sheriff's Office, Randall

County Sheriff's Office, Texas Rangers, Department of Public Safety narcotics service and intelligence service joined together at the Amarillo Police station before 6 p.m. Thursday, mapped out their moves and banded into teams of two and three to scour the city for suspects.

In Amarillo outside Randall County, the raid netted alleged offenders through Saturday morning.

Amarillo Chief of Police Paul Hulseby told newsmen just before the raid, the major work on the 61 cases was done by the DPS narcotics service. All 61 cases were made on alleged sale of dangerous drugs.

Included in the cases made in Amarillo outside Randall County were warrants for persons allegedly selling morphine, marijuana, LSD, cocaine and heroin.

"It's kind of like a smorgasbord," said one DPS officer.

Hulseby told newsmen the undercover agents found widespread sale of drugs in Amarillo, that the sale cases were not confined to one particular area of town or one particular "hang-out."

However, a listing of names of the suspects wanted reveals that the undercover agents managed to penetrate the predominantly black section of Amarillo. Twelve suspects of the 61 are black.

On DPS supervisor, Tom Sullivan of Lubbock, said the undercover work revealed no conspiracy to control the drug market in Amarillo.

He also noted that the drugs seemed to appear not from just one outside location. He indicated that with Interstate 40 traversing the city, drugs had an easy route into and out of Amarillo.

He Thought He'd Withdrawn

Plank's Name Is Still On Ballot

Whether he likes it or not, Rhett Plank is still the Republican candidate for state representative in this district.

Plank, a local attorney, withdrew from the representative race in early August.

But, he got the word Wednesday that his withdrawal was not acceptable under the Texas Election Code. And, his name remains on the November general election ballot until and unless the GOP district executive committee can come up with a replacement.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton received a letter Wednesday from Secretary of State Bob Bullock stating that Plank's name must remain on the ballot.

Article 8.22 of the election code, Bullock's letter states, says that "if a candidate resigns or dies his name will be printed on the ballot and the votes cast for him counted unless the vacancy is filled by the proper party committee prior to 20 days before the elections."

Plank's reaction to the letter was one of apparent resignation. "I consider myself withdrawn," Plank said. "I submitted my resignation and it's been accepted."

"If my name is on the ballot, it will be there just through a legal operation of the law and not through my own will or that of the committee."

Plank said he does not want to run for the office. If his name remains on the ballot it will be opposite that of Democratic incumbent and candidate Bryan Poff.

"The reason I withdrew is because I couldn't afford to take the time away from my business," he said.

Plank said if he is elected "I wouldn't have much choice—I'd feel obligated to serve."

Even so, he will not campaign.

Plank feels, too, that it will be difficult for the district committee to come up with a man who could pose any threat to the incumbent to replace his own name on the ballot.

"It would be virtually impossible for anyone to run now," he said.

Only 30 days remain before the general election.

Randall County GOP committee chairman Tom Price III agrees.

"It's not necessarily too late," he said. "Somebody could come in there. But, it would take a special individual to fill the slot at this point."

Price said representatives of

Attendance Records Conflict In Price And Purcell Reports

The attendance records of this district's two candidates for election to the U.S. Congress became an issue last week as one candidate aired radio advertising alleging poor attendance for the other.

The radio advertisement, sponsored by a group backing the election of U.S. Rep. Graham Purcell, a Democrat, indicates a poor attendance record of Purcell's opponent on the November general election ballot, Congressman Bob Price, a Republican.

The advertisement apparently stirred a storm of controversy concerning attendance in Congress, as the offices of at least one of the candidates reported a number of inquiries about the advertisement's accuracy.

Investigating the congressional attendance records of both candidates, The News learned last week that it is no easy task.

Attendance figures presented by the offices of both candidates are conflicting, and final figures on attendance in various committees and subcommittees won't be made available until this week. The News will run the figures in Thursday's edition.

The radio advertisement, which has been running various times throughout the day last week on two Amarillo stations, claims that Price was reprimanded in the Congressional Record for poor attendance on a House committee.

The Congressional Record for June 20, 1972, contains an entry by U.S. Rep. Olin Teague, Texas Democrat, reprimanding Price for his attendance record while serving on the House science and aeronautics committee.

The record states that Price was present at only 36 of 85

meetings of the committee during the previous two-year period.

Aides in Price's Washington office admit the congressman attended only 36 of 85 meetings, but they make other points.

"The fact is that that's just a smokescreen because Purcell is trying to take away from his own abysmally bad attendance record in the house," one Price aide said.

The aide pointed out that Price

A Test For Spitters

BY MARGO FIELDS

World's biggest, only and best spittin' contest will be held on the Randall County courthouse lawn Saturday morning at 9:30.

And it should be quite an event for some of these old timers who have retained the art of chewin' and spittin'. But they may find some competition from these youngsters who have taken up the hobby of chewing tobacco and dipping snuff.

Six months ago if someone had told me I would live with a dipper I would have laughed, but today I have learned never say you won't do something. One of the first things I discovered when 16-year-old Rod joined the household (or when 30-year-old Socialism, according to Howard, is contrary to the entire Biblical concept of private property, individual responsibility, and personal freedom. And it is a direct violation of the 8th Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

Howard attacks all social action which makes government rather than individuals "our brother's keeper." He insists that Jesus taught personal redemption, and salvation for individuals; and that "man is not a thing to be engineered. Man is a soul capable of free choice."

Every form of socialism, he says, from the mildest welfare state to absolute communism is based upon the immoral redistribution of wealth by government. Socialism takes the ministering to human need out of the realm of love, and puts it on the plane of force.

People probably no more enjoy receiving "love" that must be forced than they would enjoy giving it under duress.

Social workers frequently express resentment at the hostility of welfare recipients. "Surely," they say, "they could at least be grateful for the time and money spent on them."

But isn't one's pride and self respect an exorbitant price to pay for a welfare check—regardless of the size?

Almost anything that is given in love can be received with gratitude by healthy, well-adjusted, mature people. Certainly, it is "more blessed to give than to receive," but if no one would receive, who could give?

There is a grace of receiving as well as a grace of giving, and all should cultivate it. There comes a time in every life when one must be on the receiving end.

In times of illness, catastrophe, or natural disaster, the strongest, most capable man alive may become as helpless as an infant. But to be of real service, and certainly to be appreciated, a helping hand must be offered out of compassion.

American servicemen in both the European and Pacific theaters during World War II reported that the Salvation Army rendered a greater service to the troops than all other benevolent organizations combined. Not, they hasten to add, because of greater resources, but because of the spirit in which it was given.

Government services are frequently doled out with such arrogance and condescension as to generate hostility even in men who are paying a high price for them. One can imagine the bitterness of helpless people who are forced to accept them gratis. Imagine the amazement of historians in the centuries to come (if the earth stands that long) at the absence of even the mention of Christ in the history of this "Christian" nation.

Of course, the gospel according to Freud, Marx, and Madalyn O'Hair can be studied and freely discussed in public schools. But the gospel of Christ our Creator can't even be read. And why? Because our government forbids it.

Perhaps we need to take lessons from our Swiss friends. They are convinced the federal government should be limited to such functions as common defense, medium of exchange, and interstate commerce. Anything else they consider menacing than a man-eating tiger.

The Swiss cannot understand the indolence or indigence of any man who would accept charity while there was ground available to grow food.

Each Swiss "state" assumes responsibility for the natives from birth to death if they NEED help. But the needy person must return to his birthplace to get that help. Think what that policy would do for America.

The Swiss are appalled at the U.S. court system that has the power to strike down residence requirements for getting relief. But they still have a government of the people, instead of a government of the powerful.

Switzerland has found an alternative to dividing the wealth: divide the work. Irving Howard recommends the same for America.

stock in the company.

In his answer, filed Friday, Knowles says he sold the stock to Ladd and Gates with the "express understanding, as set forth in the written agreement, that such stock would be assigned to the plaintiff immediately after the transfer of such stock is permitted by Agricultural Computing Company and its transfer agent and that the sole reason such stock has not been transferred to plaintiff is because the restrictions as to transfer have not been removed by Agricultural Computing Company and its transfer agent."

Knowles' answer further states that he purchased the stock from an original stockholder with the same understanding.

"Plaintiff made such purchase as a speculative investment in anticipation that Agricultural Computing Company would go public, at which time such stock would be freely transferred and a substantial profit could be made on his investment, but plaintiff fully understood that the company might not succeed in going public, that the stock might not become freely transferable, that he might not realize any profit from his investment and in fact might lose his entire investment," the answer alleges.

"The fact is Agricultural Computing Company did not succeed with its public registration, its stock declined in value and by reason thereof plaintiff has not made the profit he had hoped to make on his speculative investment," it states. "Plaintiff now seeks to hold defendant responsible for his loss upon a theory of misrepresentation, which is wholly false and unfounded."

Knowles has been active in civic work for many years. He now serves on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Now Enters Purcell In Mud-Slinging

BY CARROLL WILSON

Up to this time, Congressman Graham Purcell has refrained from mud-slinging, a tactic his opponent, Bob Price, has employed with impunity through the latter days of the campaign for the House seat from this district.

Now, I understand, the stops are being pulled and Purcell will engage in mud-slinging.

I heard last week that Purcell has decided to tell all he knows about Price, whatever that may be.

A preview of what's to come may have been unfolded last week in Amarillo as a group backing Purcell aired a radio advertisement accusing by implication that Price's attendance record in Congress is poor.

The facts so far prove the opposite.

Innuendo has become a byword for this campaign, which is being bitterly fought by both Price and Purcell.

Perhaps, in consonance with my theory expounded here before, Purcell is awakening to the fact that he's running behind. I still think the underdog has a high propensity to sling mud.

It remains to be seen what kind of campaign Canyon's five or six ministers are going to begin to ensure the local option election, which is almost assured of getting on the ballot in November, is defeated.

After discussing the ministers' attitudes with several church-minded people since Thursday, I've come to the conclusion that several of our local churches' leaders are short-sighted at best.

To call the local option election a moral issue is debatable.

To fight it as stringently as the local ministers are is of questionable value.

The real question to me is this: Why is it that the threat of liquor sales in Canyon fires the local ministerial alliance into a frenzy of effort, when, at the same time, moral issues which affect the entire nation are being debated heatedly in other quarters?

If moral issues could be placed in a ranking structure, which ranked each issue (like liquor sale, malnutrition, population explosion, the war in Vietnam) according to its real bearing on mankind, where would liquor sale rate?

In my books, it rates low on the scale of the things most urgently needed to heal the wounds of the human race.

Yet, it's an issue which brings the local ministers together, and which spurs the flow of money with which to fight.

I think our priorities are out of kilter.

Rhett Plank was doing some pipe dreaming the other day after he heard his name will remain on the November ballot as a candidate for state representative.

Wouldn't it be great, he said, if everybody in the district voted a straight Republican ticket?

That would win him a seat he didn't campaign for.

Plank may have been pipe-dreaming, but his dream may be near reality.

More and more people are becoming disenchanted with McGovern, and more and more people who were disenchanted with McGovern are beginning to detest the man.

The feeling is strong that McGovern is campaigning in a dream world himself, unaware of the true feeling of the American people. Caught up in the frenzy of a campaign which is gathering momentum daily, McGovern has no real sense of the goals of America, the hopes of its people and the desires of everyone.

And, Purcell and Barefoot Sanders will find that their stands to support McGovern lead increasingly fewer enthusiasts into their camps.

until the Thursday climax, he worked his way into the confidence of at least 20 alleged narcotic violators, many in the heretofore untouched Negro section of Northwest Amarillo.

According to one ranking officer, this was the first time an undercover operative "would work the Heights."

It was also the first time a team of agents had worked the area for drug violators. "We've always wanted to use two men but were never able to," said one officer.

The two-man team was working out of the Texas Department of Public Safety Narcotics Division.

The agent working undercover for the Metro Squad, or more precisely, the Amarillo Police Department, had at one time been a member of that department. He had also been a member of at least two Panhandle area sheriff's departments and is now employed as a deputy in another county agency in the Panhandle.

Paul Hulsey, chief of the Amarillo department, and other agency heads would not elaborate on the undercover agents or their activities. Potter County Dist. Atty. Tom Curtis, through his assistant, Kerry Knorr, forbade any contact with the agents by newsmen. Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said he had no objections but Curtis claimed that such disclosure would jeopardize court cases.

All Men Created

BY JIM SANDS

Everyday, I become more and more convinced that all men are created. No, not created equal, just created.

Remember a fellow by the name of Eddie Miller? He was an All-Star shortstop with the Cincinnati Reds a couple of decades back and later moved over to toil under the colors of the St. Louis Cardinals.

I had occasion to play and coach with Miller during his waning years and we often talked about the game, the whos, whats, hows and whys of the men who play for money. One subject that always interested me was the fact that the players with the most natural ability were not always the ones who ended up in the big time and managed to stay there. I once asked the good-field, seldom-hit Miller how he had managed to make it to the top and, more to the point, how he had been able to ward off the annual onslaught of rookies intent upon taking away his livelihood. He answered:

"I always figured that I had average natural ability, worked a bit harder and was a heck of a lot luckier."

And that's what Eddie Miller used to tell groups of young hopefuls as he traveled around the country conducting baseball clinics, always pointing out that hard work and taking advantage of the breaks were often more important than any inherited ability.

Speaking of baseball, I noticed a few days back that the immortal Ted Williams had been dropped as manager of the Texas Rangers. Now that in itself is not an earth-shaking bit of information but it did remind me that the saga of the Boston slugger is a great example of a poor skinny kid going a long way with limited resources.

Williams, possessing keen eyesight and above average coordination, put in a lifetime of hard work and practice to become one of the most successful, if not the most popular, players of all time.

And speaking of Williams and being unpopular. . . his being inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame brought out the seldom seen side of the news media, often accused of "being one-way" and favorable only to those who "cooperate."

When Williams first became eligible for a niche among the greats of the game, the sportswriters and sportscasters wasted no time in giving him their unanimous vote for admittance.

And these were the same gentlemen of the press and air who for 20 years had been the targets of a verbal assault meted out by the star who apparently considered newsmen about one step lower than a mole's nose.

Chalk up one for the media, please.

I suppose you have already seen the service station sign advertising their "Rabbit Gas." Seems they claim it's just the thing for those "short hops."

And then there are always the ads in the "help wanted" columns for "part-time men," whatever that means.

they obtained a search warrant, went to the young man's home and found four "lids" of marijuana in the refrigerator.

Both young men were jailed pending further investigation.

At one point early in the arrest schedule, a woman came to the police station and asked if her son was in jail. When she called his name, one officer checked the list of suspects to be rounded up and replied that "he probably was."

"Well, I wish you'd tell the police that he's in jail," she said. "Policemen have been to my house three times tonight looking for him and I know he was in jail at one o'clock this afternoon."

Her son, apparently, was one of two suspects already in jail for other violations when the raid began.

Texas house of representatives. He was elected to the house in 1960 as a Democrat and was re-elected in 1962 and 1964.

The candidate switched political parties in 1966 and ran for and gained a seat in the Texas Senate. Drawing 66 per cent of the vote, Grover became the first Republican state senator in 40 years.

In 1968, he was re-elected to the Senate.

During his last legislative session in office, he was vice-chairman of the Senate's federal programs and relations committee and a member of nine other committees.

Grover and his wife, Kay, also a former grade school teacher, have six children.

Dear Friends:

Unemployed funds cost investors millions of dollars each year. This statement is especially true of the individual investor and smaller businesses. Major institutions have full-time cash management officers.

If you have cash on hand for long or short periods earning less than 5% compounded daily, then your funds are either underemployed or unemployed. Five per cent from date of deposit to date of withdrawal affords you absolute liquidity, unparalleled high return and insured safety.

We hope you will let us help you with your investment program.

Sincerely,

Attendance...

serves on five subcommittees "and since two or three of these hold weekly meetings it's humanly impossible to be in all those places at one time.

The aide said Congressman Teague, who introduced into the Congressional Record the chairman of the science and aeronautics committee and has the lowest attendance record of any member of the Texas delegation in the House.

Price currently serves on the agriculture committee and the livestock and grain subcommittee with Purcell.

In comparing overall Congressional attendance on the floor of the House, The News found conflicting figures.

Price's office says Price has an attendance record on the House floor of 90.4 per cent. They say Purcell has an attendance record of about 69 per cent "the second lowest of any man in the Congress from Texas."

Purcell's office on the other hand admits Price's record of 90.4 per cent, but they say Purcell's record is around 86 per cent.

In a statement issued last week, Price blasted Purcell for his absence on the floor of the House.

"This week alone I voted on 10 major pieces of legislation which Purcell failed to vote on because he was absent," Price said. "He has the second worst attendance record in the whole Texas delegation."

Purcell's office, in presenting figures for attendance on the House subcommittee on livestock and grains, to which Price and Purcell belong and which Purcell chairs, said the Republican candidate was present 76 per cent of the time during the last session while the Democratic candidate was present 97 per cent of the time.

"Purcell has been calling meetings of his subcommittee when he knew Price would be out of pocket," one Price aide said.

Apparently, attendance information of congressmen serving on House committees and subcommittees is not viewed in Washington as public information. Such information must be got from the chairmen of the various subcommittees.

City Woman's Brother Dies

Charles B. Miles, brother of Mrs. H.D. Curtis of Canyon, died at 1 p.m. Friday in the Golden Age Rest Home in Amarillo.

He was 63 years old. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in the Assembly of God Church of Amarillo. Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Miles had lived at 1321 Smiley.

Student...

indefinite period of time after he ceased being a student.

Some controversy erupted over the article last spring prior to party primary elections in Randall County after a ruling allowed 18-year-old students to vote in elections and also changed voter registration times from annual registration to allow registration up to 30 days prior to any election.

Voter registration in Randall County ended at noon Saturday with more than 25,500 persons signing up to vote in the November general election.

On campus at West Texas State University, both Young Republicans and Young Democrats have since the opening of school been registering voters for the election.

One registration campaign organizer told The News that last week's federal court ruling has little effect on registrations at WTSU for the county.

"We'd been going on the assumption all along that that would happen," he said.

He said Mrs. Bruse had not required for this election that students on campus with homes in other counties sign affidavits stating they would remain in Randall County following their graduation or cessation of studies.

Plank...

the county committees in Randall, Carson and Potter counties will meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday in his office to decide whether Plank's name will be withdrawn from the ballot and another inserted.

In the meantime, County Clerk Hutton has the election-process wheels turning full speed in his office.

"I'm getting ready to go to press," he said, "because I have it scheduled where I'm going to start mailing ballots Tuesday."

Hutton said the ballots will go to 130 county residents serving in the armed forces overseas.

"That means that this group of ballots, unless I get a change Tuesday, will have Rhett on the ballot," he said.

NUTRITIONISTS HAVE INTENSIVELY studied cattle in the past few years as well as other animals. The least-studied has been man, because of his long age-span. A wait of seventy years is necessary before deciding that a man had a proper diet. Moreover, cattle are restricted to the proper diet of sorghum, corn, and molasses regardless of whether they have a yearning for green wheat. Man, on the other hand, cannot be restricted; he has a free choice of whether to eat less meat, more strawberry shortcake, or indulge in too much alcohol, tobacco, or marijuana. May the cattle have an easier way to good health than free-choosing man does.

TOMORROW, IN OBSERVANCE of Columbus Day, the Umbarger Post Office will be closed except for window service from 8-10 a.m.

Prevention Week Activities Few

Today through Saturday is Fire Prevention Week in Canyon and all across the country. It is a period set aside each year to make Americans more aware of fire dangers and fire safety and to show appreciation to the nation's firemen.

In Canyon this year, there will be less planned observance activities than in previous years, a fire department spokesman said this week. This was due to the city having a new fire marshal who has not been on the job long enough to plan a complete program.

The city fire marshal, Blakley Fargason, has only been in his present position since August 1. He did say that a planned program of events would be set up for the observance next year.

According to Deputy Chief Joe Rice, "Setting up a fire prevention program takes a lot of time and work."

One annual event to be held this year will be visits to the Canyon fire station by several groups of kindergarten students. The pre-schoolers will be given a tour of the facility and get a chance to see the firefighting equipment and talk to firemen.

During the visits, which should include 10 or 12 classes from Canyon and the area, the children will be quizzed on whether or not they know how to turn in a fire alarm and will be instructed on simple safety precautions regarding fire.

On Oct. 11, members of the volunteer department will hold a fire drill for the purpose of getting acquainted with the new "manifold system" now being installed on one of the department's pumper trucks.

The practice session will be conducted on a city street and under actual firefighting conditions.

JVs Down Olton 28-0 Through Aerial Route

Canyon's junior varsity team rolled over Olton Thursday night by a score of 28-0 at Olton. Three of the JV's touchdowns came through the air.

In the first quarter, Adrian Foil pulled in a 12-yard pass from quarterback Jimmy Ward for the first point-producing action. Dennis Collier kicked the point after.

Also in the initial period, Mark Jackson and Ward teamed up on a 20-yard toss to make it 13-0 before Collier came through with his second conversion.

In the second period, Ward's third scoring pass of the night was taken in by Steve Webber.

Physics Film In Two Parts

"The Violent Universe," a film exploring the revolution in astronomical observations and theories will be presented Tuesday and Thursday at West Texas State University.

The British Broadcasting Corporation production will be presented in two parts at 7:10 p.m. each day in Room 101 of the University Complex, South.

covering a distance of 60 yards. Collier again added the point after, giving the JVs a 21-0 edge as they broke for the half.

The final successful drive came in the third quarter and was climaxed when Ronnie Hicks dashed the last six yards into the endzone. Collier made it a perfect night, leaving the score 28-0.

The first, second and last touchdowns were set up by recovered fumbles, said coach John Morrow. Dennis Collier bounced on top of two and Ronnie Hicks grabbed the other.

The leading rusher for the JVs was Jerry Collins who tackled up 95 yards. Joe Gillis sparked on defense and was credited with making seven tackles.

Team members selected top players for the game and they were: Outstanding offensive lineman, Bo Bridges, outstanding offensive back, Ronnie Hicks, outstanding defensive lineman, Joe Gillis, and outstanding defensive back, Kevin McQuestion.

The JVs travel to Lefors Thursday night to play that school's varsity. Game time is 8 p.m.

Miss Lee, Foster Exchange Vows

Miss Carla Dianne Lee and Gregory Kirk Foster exchanged wedding vows in a Friday evening ceremony at the Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel on the campus of West Texas State University. Dr. Dan Cooper of the First Baptist Church, of Shawnee, Oklahoma, cousin of the bride, solemnized the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Georgia Lee, 1121 Creekmore. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton H. Foster of Dalhart.

The altar was centered with a bouquet of large white chrysanthemums and blue cushion pom pom mums, backed by a fifteen branch arched candelabrum entwined in greenery. Two spiral candelabra stood on either side. Floor baskets of mums and two seven branch candelabra, all entwined with greenery and bearing blue tapers, flanked the steps ascending to the altar area.

Lighting the candles were Gary and Randy Cooper, cousins of the bride.

Miss Joy Jones played traditional wedding selections before the ceremony and accompanied Gene Vaughn Morrison as he sang "There is Love," "One Hand, One Heart," and the "Wedding Prayer."

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Gail Fite of Canyon, and Mrs. Karen Foster served as bridesmaid. Flower girl was Miss Camye Wood of Dallas, cousin of the bride. The attendants wore floor length formal gowns of powder blue chiffon over taffeta, with royal blue velvet empire bodice with French sleeves cuffed in the royal blue velvet. They carried nosegays of white roses, blue pom pom mums, royal blue baby's breath, and blue Frenched carnations with a cascade of light blue satin streamers tied in love knots. Their hair was caught in the back with white roses and blue ribbon.

Gary Porter of Dalhart served as best man and Richard Gallo of Dalhart was groomsman. Ushering were Jay and Mike Foster of Dalhart, brothers of the groom, and Gary and Randy Cooper, cousins of the bride. Timothy Wood of Dallas, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Benny Cooper, wore the wedding gown that had been worn by all the granddaughters of her maternal grandmother. The traditional wedding gown was a white floor length gown of rosepoint lace over French tulle and satin. The bodice was fashioned of rosepoint lace and styled with a scalloped neckline and a long fitted waist that came to points in front and back. The tightly fitted sleeves extended to petal points over the bride's hands. Tiny lace covered buttons fastened the back of the gown and also the sleeves. The bouffant skirt of scalloped rosepoint lace was covered with tiered ruffles of the matching scalloped lace and alternate ruffles were of the French tulle. These flowed to a French train in the back. The fingertip bridal veil was of imported scalloped illusion. The bride carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis, white carnations and baby's breath accented with touches of blue. For something old, the bride wore the gold wedding band of her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Colebank of Tucumcari, N. M.

After the wedding ceremony a reception was held on campus at the Methodist Student Center. The bride's table was laid with a white organdy bridal cloth with blue satin ribbon interlacing the narrow lattice work trim. The four-tiered wedding cake on swan pedestals was decorated with a scroll design and topped with a nosegay of white roses and blue baby's breath. A five-branched candelabrum, bearing blue tapers, entwined with ivy and encircled at the base with nosegays of white roses and blue cushion pom pom mums centered the table. A silver punch bowl completed the table appointments.

Miss Janna Johnson and Miss Debbie White, Chi Omega sisters of the bride, served cake and punch.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride was wearing a navy, white trimmed knit dress with navy accessories and white corsage. The couple will be at home at 901 Margaret in Dalhart.

The bride is a graduate of Canyon High School and was an elementary education major at West Texas State University where she held membership in the Chi Omega social sorority and in the Sigma Nu Little Sisters.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Missouri Military Academy and attended West Texas State University.

The rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and out-of-town guests was hosted by the groom's parents.

Meeting Set To Discuss Counselling

A meeting for persons interested in forming a counselling service in Canyon will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Randall County Judge's office.

Several local residents are expected to attend the meeting to discuss formation of such a service for area families and individuals.

The meeting is the outgrowth of a meeting last week between County Judge Woody Pond and the Rev. Baldwin Stribling.

The Rev. Mr. Stribling met with Pond to discuss the need for a counselling service here and the methods of forming such a service.

The local pastor sees a need in Canyon for a volunteer service which provides counselling in matters of family problems, financial problems, legal problems and related areas.

The Rev. Mr. Stribling is the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Canyon.

Four To Vie For CHS Queen

Four Canyon High School senior girls were named Friday to seek the honor of being this year's Homecoming Queen and reigning over festivities during the homecoming period.

The four are Teddi Crager, Kathy Dees, Charlotte Tompkins and Cindy Williams. They were chosen by the student body from fourteen candidates nominated by the four home rooms at the school. Three of the four were introduced at a pep rally held in the school auditorium Friday afternoon. One girl was absent, a school official said.

Voting for the queen will be done by the student body on Tuesday. Crowning ceremonies are scheduled to be held Friday night just prior to the Eagle-Palo Duro football game to be played at the Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

In other homecoming activity, a bonfire and pep rally will be held Thursday evening just north of the school off 10th Street. Sometime during the late afternoon or early evening Thursday, a "car smash" will be held. At last report, the time and location of the auto wrecking event had not been determined.

On Friday night, another pep rally will be held at the stadium just outside the Eagles' dressing room. The time scheduled is 7 p.m., or just before the team takes to the field for warm-up.

Following the game, a social will be held at The Commons on campus.

Other than for a place of registration for visiting ex-students, no formal or reunion-type activities are planned. The oldest former student and the one traveling the furthest distance in returning will be introduced to the student body during a Friday afternoon assembly.

Eagles Whapped By Pampa

Canyon's Eagles met a defense as tough as their own and an offense even better as they lost their fifth straight game Friday night to Pampa's Harvesters 27-7 in Pampa.

Playing without the use of injured Bill Moore, talented backfield runner, the Eagles were paralyzed during the first half of Friday night's game and recovered only lamely in the second half.

The rugged Eagle defense was handed the bulk of the work Friday night as they tried to contain speedy Harvester halfback Richard McCampbell and quarterback Rick Leverich.

The Eagle offense, which is depending heavily on a pass and sweep maneuver combination this year, faltered as quarterback Ed Lair connected on only five passes.

The first Pampa score came with just three minutes gone in the game after one of Lair's passes was intercepted by McCampbell on the Eagle 44 line and run back to paydirt.

Throughout the remainder of the first quarter of play, the Eagles and Harvesters fought for field position with neither team able to make the big play to score.

Then late in the second quarter, the Pampans took over the ball on their own 35 and dug in, driving up the middle to eke out important yardage. McCampbell plunged through the center of Canyon's line once more for three yards and the second Harvester score.

The extra point was blocked by Terry Slagle and the Pampa team led by 13-0 with 4:25 remaining in the initial half.

With only four minutes remaining in the third quarter, the Eagles put their own mark on the scoreboard, giving Eagle fans a slight hope of a comeback and possible win.

Taking the ball on their own 35, the Eagles drove on the ground and in the air to score on a Gary Bendora run for seven yards and paydirt.

In the next series of downs for Pampa, the Harvesters drove from their own 42 to score in 10 plays. McCampbell again drove through the middle of the line for the five-yard touchdown.

With 59 seconds showing on the third quarter clock, the Harvesters led 20-7.

The final Pampa score came with less than 2 minutes remaining in the game. It was set up by an interception of a Lair aerial. The Pampans drove 56 yards in five plays to score with Mike Robbins making the final three yards up the middle of the line.

The Harvester defense held Canyon to just 21 yards total rushing during the first half of play and the Eagles were unable to muster a first down until midway through the third quarter of action.

The Eagles were held to 153 total yards rushing with Lair making 87 of those in the air.

The Harvesters netted 11 first downs during the outing and tallied 249 total yards rushing. They made 14 of those yards in the air.

Leading ground gainer for the Eagles was Matt Hanson with 31 yards. He was followed by Bendorz with 21 and Lair with 8.

McCampbell paced Harvester rushing with 76 total yards. Leverich made 51 yards on the ground.

Lair hit on five of 23 passes and had four intercepted.

The Eagles will try for their first win of the season at 7:30 p.m. Friday when they meet another AAAA school, Palo Duro's Dons in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

Baggarly Says Vote Democrat

People shouldn't listen to what the presidential candidates are saying but should vote for the party rather than the man, H.M. Baggarly told a meeting of West Texas State University Young Democrats on the WTSU campus Wednesday night.

Baggarly is editor of The Tulia Herald and is considered a spokesman for Texas Democrats.

In effect Baggarly said campaign promises by either candidate don't mean a thing but that the party is everything.

He indicated that 75 percent of the electorate does not realize that the party is more important than the topics discussed during the heat of a political campaign.

Earlier Baggarly had purported to trace the history of the Republican Party back to Alexander Hamilton, the first treasurer under George Washington.

He said Hamilton and the "Republicans" did not believe the masses capable of voting intelligently.

After his talk he was asked if he hadn't said about the same thing in his assertion that 75 percent of today's electorate is too ignorant to recognize the real issues.

"I guess so," he replied.

Baggarly said the party in power affects the welfare of the country more than the man in power.

He said the Republicans favor a trickle down philosophy where things are made easy for the rich with prosperity supposedly trickling down to the economic stratas below.

Conversely, he said, the Democrats favor strengthening the economic position of the middle class.

He declared that Republicans are more concerned with property than with people. "Where people vote for the man instead of the party, you find ignorance," the Tulia publisher declared.

He hailed Graham Purcell as a supporter of George McGovern for president because he, Purcell, believes "the Democratic Party is best for the people."

Actually, Purcell's public support of the Democratic nominee has been confined to saying he will vote for McGovern and this only to preserve his seniority in the House of Representatives.

"I'm going to vote a straight Democratic ticket in November myself," Baggarly concluded.

Student Hurt In 1-Car Wreck

A 19-year-old West Texas State University student, Steve Stone of Frona, was injured about 1:40 p.m. Wednesday when the car which he was driving overturned on U. S. 87 at the McCormick Road overpass.

Investigating officers of the Department of Public Safety said

Six outstanding homes, designed and furnished as ideal settings for the life style and interests of those living in them, will be on parade next Sunday afternoon from 2-6 p.m. when the University Study Club presents the "Annual Tour of Homes." Tickets may be purchased from members or at the door for $1.00.

The homes to be shown are the George Blackwells' at 702 Taylor Lane, the Jim Perrys' at 2816 7th Ave., the Charles Smallwoods' at 2505 12th Ave., the Larry Brandons' at 1102 Creekmore, the Dudley Moores' at 11 Southridge Dr., and the A.L. Crosslands' at 1400 Creekmore.

Rooms of the Perry home, designed by Jim with suggestions by Jeannette, frame a large, enclosed L-shaped swimming pool and play area that can generously accommodate the lively activities of their two sons, Churk, 11, and Jamie, 9. From the living area, glassed in and lightly curtained, an anxious parent may still keep an eye on swimmers. A 20-foot square patio area opens onto the garden, and another entrance leads conveniently to a bath for changing. Jim Perry has added colored wall lamps from Mexico along with underwater lighting that make it, he says, "a lovely picture at night."

In addition, a paneled billiard room, carpet and upholstered in peacock blue, with pass-through from the kitchen area, provides another recreational area. All blend perfectly with the Mediterranean furnishings of their sunken living room.

At the Crossland home—architecturally one of Canyon's most striking homes—a light and spacious, enclosed garden patio reflects the "green thumb" interests of Mrs. Crossland. In one corner she has created a beautiful rock garden with fountain, pool, and leafy plants. Those interested in indoor plants will admire a huge

Buff Morris To Be Consultant At Child Migrant Workshop

Milton "Buff" Morris, executive vice president of Opportunity Plan, Inc., will be a consultant at the 10th annual Texas Child Migrant workshop in McAllen, Monday through Wednesday.

Sponsored by Texas Education Agency for personnel in the child migrant program, the workshop will be attended by about 2,800 administrators, teachers, teacher aides, and ancillary personnel involved primarily in teaching Mexican-American children whose parents are agricultural migrants.

Morris was invited to the workshop by its director, Lee C. Frasier, Austin, to conduct sessions on the subjects of scholarships and resources. He was, for several years, director of student financial aids at WTSU. He originated the independent loan fund, later chartered as the Opportunity Plan, Inc., 19 years ago while directing the Ex Student Association. In 1967 he was named Amarillo's Man of the Year because he had "worked at his plan until it made a college education available to hundreds of deserving young people."

He has dispersed more than $2 million among some 3,000 students through his no-interest loan plan.

Morris and his wife left Saturday for the conference. They will be joined Monday by a WTSU Opportunity Plan student, Aurora Salinas. Aurora, a senior elementary education major, will speak to the workshop groups as a part of Morris' presentation. A 1967 graduate of Hereford High School, she had for six years been an agricultural migrant from Mission to Hereford—or whatever area held the most promising jobs for her and three older sisters. She was advised that she could not succeed in college because of her inadequate educational progress.

Aurora will explain her experiences in college as an OPI student, her encouragement from Morris and the OPI staff, and her determination to earn a degree and teach other Spanish-American students.

Those taking the "Annual Tour of Homes," next Sunday afternoon, 2-6 p.m., will see the spacious, enclosed garden patio room of the A.L. Crossland home at 1400 Creekmore.

Mrs. Crossland, above, created a rock garden with fountain and pool in one corner of the room.

Coach Expected Tough Game

About 27 members of the Buffalo Booster Club Thursday night heard Coach Gene Mayfield say that this weekend's encounter with Southern Mississippi at Hattiesburg would be "a hard game."

Mayfield said that he expected his Buffs to make a good showing against the team which lost to Ole Miss by four points last weekend.

According to the coach, Southern Miss. has an exceptionally good punter who could cause problems for the Buffaloes.

While viewing both the offensive and defensive plays on film Thursday night, Mayfield had words of praise for his entire team. Because of the fine defensive showing, a spokesman said, the entire game film was shown.

According to Mayfield, Lamar University last weekend had suffered from fumbles and mistakes in the same manner as the Buffs had done in losing to Drake at the opening of the season.

Eddie Knowles, who presided over the gathering, said each member was asked to bring a guest to the next meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank. Everyone is welcome whether they are members or not, Knowles said.

An Eagle back prepares to crash to the ground as he is clasped by a Pampa Harvester defender during Friday night's game which saw Canyon lose 27 to 7.

Bufs Lose 14-7 To Southern Miss.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — The University of Southern Mississippi struck for a pair of first half touchdowns and then held onto to defeat West Texas State's stubborn Buffaloes 14-7 here Saturday night before 11,500 fans.

The Southerners were slowed by WTSU's aggressive defense during most of the contest. The alert Buffalo defense picked off three passes by Buddy Palazzo and recovered one fumble, but the Buffaloes suffered the same number of turnovers — three interceptions and a fumble.

Southern pushed 57 yards in six plays to score the game's opening touchdown. Palazzo passed the final 30 to Marshall Veal and Ray Guy kicked the conversion to give the Southerners a 7-0 lead with 11:35 left in the first quarter.

Terence Wells climaxed a 52-yard push midway in the second quarter with a 20-yard touchdown run. Guy converted to complete the scoring for the winners.

They drove 52 yards in six plays after a fumble by Mike Wartes, Buff quarterback.

Cornerback Johnny McDowell set up WTSU's lone touchdown late in the third quarter when he intercepted a Palazzo pass and returned it 32 yards to the Southern Mississippi 13. Two plays later, Jimmy Lisle ran the final nine yards with 12 seconds remaining in the third quarter. Arcadio Rivera added the 7th point.

The Buffs host New Mexico State at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Kimbrough Stadium in the Missouri Valley Conference clash which is also the homecoming game for West Texas.

The Buffalo ground game netted only 97 yards, its low of the season, as compared to 128 for Southern Miss.

Billy Pritchett led the Buffalo ball carriers with 53 yards in 13 carries. Lisle was next with 42 yards in 13.

The loss evened West Texas State's record for the season at 2-2.

Deputy Recil Johnson, Canyon Police Chief Al Stewart and Sheriff Cliff Longest look over list of suspects before the drug raid Thursday night which netted the man above and five others.

Whether or not Randall County residents will even have the chance to vote on a local option for the sale of liquor and liquor by the drink will be decided today.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton said midnight tonight is the deadline for petitions calling for a local option election to be turned into his office for certification.

Petitions calling for the election in the South Amarillo

portion of the county began pouring into Hutton's office Wednesday.

Through late Friday, he had not seen any petitions calling for a similar election in Canyon. Nor had he heard from any petition circulators concerning the deadline.

The county clerk said he had received and qualified just over 2,000 names on petitions submitted from South Amarillo through Friday afternoon. He said he had disqualified about 1,000 names on the same petitions.

Pushers for the local option vote in South Amarillo need 3,715 names certified as correct on their petitions before an election may be called. Petitions returned from the Canyon area need nearly 900 names before an election may be called here.

Late Friday, it appeared petitions containing enough signatures would be forthcoming to call the election.

James Vinyard, who filed for the petitions a month ago, said Friday he expected no trouble gaining enough signatures by tonight to call the election in the South Amarillo area.

He said that as of Wednesday, more than 600 signatures had been gathered in Canyon. He was confident that the required signatures here would also be obtained.

Hutton said he would be in his office much of the day today to receive the final petitions "but I won't be here until midnight."

If enough signatures are obtained in Canyon and South Amarillo, Hutton will certify the petitions to Randall County Commissioners Monday afternoon and they will in turn set a date for the local option election.

Commissioners had indicated last week they will probably set the election to occur in conjunction with the local option election. (See LIQUOR, Page 2)

Hereford Man, Wife Killed In Pickup-Truck Accident

A Hereford man and his wife were killed at 3:58 p.m. Saturday in a pickup-truck collision at U.S. 60 and Buffalo Lake Road in Umbarger.

The dead were identified as Hascal Dugden Robbins, 75, and his wife, Velma Harper Robbins, 57, both of Hereford.

They were pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson.

The pickup in which the Robbins were riding was crushed by the impact when their vehicle was in collision with a loaded cattle truck driven by a Hereford man.

Canyon firemen worked more than an hour trying to free the body of Robbins from the demolished cab of the pickup. Firemen were also standing by to water down diesel fuel which spewed from the cattle truck's tanks and into the gutter of U.S. 60.

Driver of the cattle truck was Larry R. Williams, 28, of Friona. Williams was eastbound on U.S. 60 when the accident occurred. Robbins was northbound on Buffalo Lake Road.

Following the collision, the cattle truck, under the power of momentum, pushed the pickup through the intersection and onto a gravel drive narrowly missing an Umbarger auto parts store on the north side of the highway.

Williams described the accident:

"There was a car in front of me and this fellow (Robbins) pulled out and he slowed down and it slowed me down some. This old boy just kept coming (Robbins) and I hit my breaks and I locked 'em down to keep from hitting him. He slowed down some and then kept on coming. I turned as far to the left as I could go and he came on out in front of me."

"I sat on the horn. I guess he didn't hear it."

Williams surmised that Robbins was going to attempt a turn from Buffalo Lake Road west onto U.S. 60.

The collision occurred in the middle of the intersection.

Harold Carson, 42, of Olton, a piano teacher, was traveling west on U.S. 60 when the accident occurred.

"I was getting ready to turn left and I heard a horn," he said. "I thought it was a train and I looked up and saw this — well, it looked like an explosion to me — and then this white trailer was coming toward me."

The white trailer was attached to the back of the Robbins pickup and apparently detached upon impact and spun around into Carson's late model vehicle. Carson was unhurt. His car ended up astride the center median at the intersection.

An unidentified man told The News he was waiting at the stop sign on Buffalo Lake Road right behind the Robbins' pickup when the accident occurred.

"The pickup pulled out in front of him," he said. "He might have been going west toward Hereford. I pulled on over and parked and came on over here and I knew before I got here they were dead."

Matt Albracht of Amarillo was on the north side of U.S. 60 at the stop sign at the Buffalo Lake Road intersection.

All he saw, though, was the cattle truck careening across the westbound lanes of the highway and to a standstill in front of the auto parts house.

Massive Drug Raid Nets 6 Of 11 Suspects In County

BY CARROLL WILSON

A massive drug raid, the largest in the history of Amarillo, netted six of 11 suspects Thursday night wanted on warrants in Randall County for sale of everything from marijuana to a cocaine derivative.

Sixty-one alleged drug offenders were sought by 68 officers, including deputies from the Randall County Sheriff's office, during the raid which began at 6:30 p.m. Thursday and continued until early Friday morning.

Eleven alleged sellers of dangerous drugs were sought on adult warrants and five or six juveniles were also wanted on warrants in Randall County.

The six arrested Thursday night and arraigned before Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill"

Wilson include Larry Allan Cate, two counts of sale of marijuana; Richard Alan Ford, sale of marijuana; Allan Dean Manning, sale of marijuana; Marvin Leon Peace, sale of marijuana; Edward Gene Jackson, sale of barbiturate; and Roy Dale Hodges, sale of LSD.

Cate and Ford were freed from Randall County Jail Friday after posting bond of $5,000 on each charge.

All suspects wanted and arrested were from South Amarillo. No cases in Canyon or on the West Texas State University campus were sought in the Thursday raid.

Three undercover agents, two from the Department of Public Service narcotics service and one operating for the City of Amarillo, worked four months making cases which led to the raid.

Officers from the Amarillo Police Department, Potter County Sheriff's Office, Randall

County Sheriff's Office, Texas Rangers, Department of Public Safety narcotics service and intelligence service joined together at the Amarillo Police station before 6 p.m. Thursday, mapped out their moves and banded into teams of two and three to scour the city for suspects.

In Amarillo outside Randall County, the raid netted alleged offenders through Saturday morning.

Amarillo Chief of Police Paul Hulsey told newsmen just before the raid, the major work on the 61 cases was done by the DPS narcotics service. All 61 cases were made on alleged sale of dangerous drugs.

Included in the cases made in Amarillo outside Randall County were warrants for persons allegedly selling morphine, marijuana, LSD, cocaine and heroin.

"It's kind of like a smorgasbord," said one DPS officer.

Hulsey told newsmen the undercover agents found widespread sale of drugs in Amarillo, that the sale cases were not confined to one particular area of town or one particular "hang-out."

However, a listing of names of the suspects wanted reveals that the undercover agents managed to penetrate the predominantly black section of Amarillo. Twelve suspects of the 61 are black.

On DPS supervisor, Tom Sullivan of Lubbock, said the undercover work revealed no conspiracy to control the drug market in Amarillo.

He also noted that the drugs seemed to appear not from just one outside location. He indicated that with Interstate 40 traversing the city, drugs had an easy route into and out of Amarillo.

He Thought He'd Withdrawn

Plank's Name Is Still On Ballot

Whether he likes it or not, Rhett Plank is still the Republican candidate for state representative in this district.

Plank, a local attorney, withdrew from the representative race in early August.

But, he got the word Wednesday that his withdrawal was not acceptable under the Texas Election Code. And, his name remains on the November general election ballot and unless the GOP district executive committee can come up with a replacement.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton received a letter Wednesday from Secretary of State Bob Bullock stating that Plank's name must remain on the ballot.

Article 8.22 of the election code, Bullock's letter states, says that "if a candidate resigns or dies his name will be printed on the ballot and the votes cast for him counted unless the vacancy is filled by the proper party committee prior to 20 days before the elections."

Plank's reaction to the letter was one of apparent resignation. "I consider myself withdrawn," Plank said. "I submitted my resignation and it's been accepted."

"If my name is on the ballot, it will be there just through a legal operation of the law and not through my own will or that of the committee."

Plank said he does not want to run for the office. If his name remains on the ballot it will be opposite that of Democratic incumbent and candidate Bryan Poff.

"The reason I withdrew is because I couldn't afford to take the time away from my business," he said.

Plank said if he is elected "I wouldn't have much choice—I'd feel obligated to serve."

Even so, he will not campaign. Plank feels, too, that it will be difficult for the district committee to come up with a man who could pose any threat to the incumbent to replace his own name on the ballot.

"It would be virtually impossible for anyone to run now," he said.

Only 30 days remain before the general election.

Randall County GOP committee chairman Tom Price III agrees.

"It's not necessarily too late," he said. "Somebody could come in there. But, it would take a special individual to fill the slot at this point."

Price said representatives of

Drugnet Differs From Those In Past

BY JIM SANDS

"Sure, I've sold grass a time or two... but I'm not a pusher."

That was what one youthful suspect arrested in Thursday night's two-county drug raid said of the charge against him. The boy, in his late teens, went on to explain that on the few occasions that he had supplied marijuana to someone, he had "done it as a favor."

The young suspect said the drug sale charge was his first brush with the law. He added that he had given marijuana away "once or twice" and had simply been a middle-man supplier to "friends."

"I guess one of the 'friends' must have been a narc," he concluded.

Another youth simply claimed that he had been the apparent victim of incorrect identification. He denied being involved in drugs in any manner and cited past instances of undercover agents making mistakes in identification.

"It has happened before," the suspect said.

The sweeping drugnet which hit in both Randall and Potter Counties, the fifth major raid in recent years, was somewhat different from those dating back to 1968, a Metro Intelligence Unit officer said.

The officer claimed much of the "cloak and dagger" aspect associated with past undercover operations was missing this time, although the agents did use code names and met secretly to pass along information and evidence.

Operating independent of a state investigation, the city undercover agent made his first "buy," on June 2. From that time (See DRUGNET, Page 2)

Suits Filed Here Against Knowles

Two civil suits alleging misrepresentations in a stock transaction have been filed in 181st District Court against a prominent Canyon businessman and civic leader.

The suits, filed against car dealer Eddie Knowles, past president of the Chamber of Commerce, were answered this week by Knowles and his attorney.

The suits were filed by Dale Ladd and Gene Gates of Pampa. Together, the suits seek more than $28,000 in recovery and damages.

The suits allege that about Sept. 20, 1968, Knowles "deliberately deceived the plaintiff by purportedly entering into contract to sell" 1,000 shares of common stock of Agricultural Computing Co., Inc.

Knowles, according to the suits, contracted to sell the stock for $4,000 each to Ladd and Gates and Knowles represented to the two Pampans that he owned the stock and had authority to sell it.

Knowles' representations were false, the suits allege.

The suit says the two plaintiffs discovered the false representation a year later in September of 1971.

The plaintiffs allege that Knowles did not own stock in Agricultural Computing Co., Inc., at the time the contract was executed and does not now own stock in the company.

Each suit seeks the return of the original $4,000 plus 6 per cent interest per year and exemplary damages of $10,000 plus attorneys' fees.

Gov. Candidate Sets City Visit

The Republican gubernatorial candidate is planning a visit to Canyon and West Texas State University over the last weekend this month.

Hank Grover, a Democrat who changed hats in the mid-1960s, tentatively plans to visit the city Oct. 27 or 28 during a Winnebago motor home tour of major Texas metropolitan areas.

Claudia Stravato, who is associated with the WTSU Young Republicans, said the candidate is currently scheduled to speak on campus and visit Canyon's business district.

A teacher turned politician Grover faces Democrat Dolph Briscoe, said by many to be a shoe-in for the governor's seat, in the November general election.

Grover's appearance here will be the first stop he's made in Canyon since campaigning began before the primaries.

The Houston educator comes into the general election after winning the second primary runoff election back in the spring with 66 per cent of the vote.

A relative unknown in this part of the state, Grover has visited briefly in Amarillo on occasion.

Grover, 45, is a fourth generation Texan who received his bachelor's degree from the University of St. Thomas in Houston in 1952, his masters degree from the University of Houston in 1962 and who has pursued doctoral level work at the University of Texas in Austin.

Grover was a teacher in the Houston public schools for 12 years and worked in the administrative department of the Houston Independent School District another year before resigning in 1966.

He then took a position with Houston Baptist College in the development staff. He is still associated with the college.

Grover's political career began in 1958 when he was a Democratic candidate for the (See GROVER, Page 2)

Student Sign-ups Eased—Too Late

A provision in the state election code which placed restrictions on university student voting rights has been ruled unconstitutional, but public word of the ruling may have come too late to have any real effect on this year's voter registration.

Mrs. Audrey Bruce, tax assessor-collector here, said she received a letter last week from Secretary of State Bob Bullock informing her of the unconstitutionality of Article 5.08 (k) regarding student voter registrations.

Bullock's letter states that Federal District Judge William Wayne Justice ruled the article unconstitutional on Oct. 2.

"Under this order, students must be treated in exactly the same manner as other applicants," the letter says. "No county registrar may require any affidavits or questionnaires in addition to the information required on the application for a voter registration certificate."

The article involved formerly stated that a student attending a university was considered to have as his residence the home from which he came to attend the school unless he became a bona fide resident of the county in which the university is located or unless he intended to remain within the same county for an

Attendance Records Conflict In Price And Purcell Reports

The attendance records of this district's two candidates for election to the U.S. Congress became an issue last week as one candidate aired radio advertising alleging poor attendance for the other.

The radio advertisement, sponsored by a group backing the election of U.S. Rep. Graham Purcell, a Democrat, indicates a poor attendance record of Purcell's opponent on the November general election ballot, Congressman Bob Price, a Republican.

The advertisement apparently stirred a storm of controversy concerning attendance in Congress, as the offices of at least one of the candidates reported a number of inquiries about the advertisement's accuracy.

Investigating the congressional attendance records of both candidates, The News learned last week that it is no easy task.

Attendance figures presented by the offices of both candidates are conflicting, and final figures on attendance in various committees and subcommittees won't be made available until this week. The News will run the figures in Thursday's edition.

The radio advertisement, which has been running various times throughout the day last week on two Amarillo stations, claims that Price was reprimanded in the Congressional Record for poor attendance on a House committee.

The Congressional Record for June 20, 1972, contains an entry by U.S. Rep. Olin Teague, Texas Democrat, reprimanding Price for his attendance record while serving on the House science and aeronautics committee.

The record states that Price was present at only 36 of 85

meetings of the committee during the previous two-year period.

Aides in Price's Washington office admit the congressman attended only 36 of 85 meetings, but they make other points.

"The fact is that that's just a smokescreen because Purcell is trying to take away from his own abysmally bad attendance record in the house," one Price aide said.

The aide pointed out that Price (See ATTENDANCE, Page 4)

Spitting Contest Saturday Downtown

A World Championship Tobacco Spitting Contest will be held by The Canyon News at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in front of Byrd Recreation Club on the Canyon Courthouse lawn on the west side of the square in downtown Canyon.

Cash prizes totalling $50 will be awarded overall winners who top two categories.

Contestants will be judged on distance in one category and accuracy in another. Point totals from each category will be tallied to name the overall champions.

First place winner will receive $25 cash, second place finisher will take home $15 and third place winner will get $10.

Contestants may use any brand tobacco, but tobacco must be furnished by the contestants.

No age groupings will be established for the contest and all comers must compete in one open class.

The spitting contest is a sequel to last month's Canyon News sponsored Ugliest Dog Contest, which attracted more than 50 (See SPITTING, Page 2) to the troops than all other benevolent organizations combined. Not, they hasten to add, because of greater resources, but because of the spirit in which it was given.

Government services are frequently doled out with such arrogance and condescension as to generate hostility even in men who are paying a high price for them. One can imagine the bitterness of helpless people who are forced to accept them gratis. Imagine the amazement of his ticians in this centuries to come (if the earth stands that long) at the absence of even the mention of Christ in the history of this "Christian" nation.

Of course, the gospel according to Freud, Marx, and Madalyn O'Hair can be studied and freely discussed in public schools. But the gospel of Christ our Creator can't even be read. And why? Because our government forbids it.

Perhaps we need to take lessons from our Swiss friends. They are convinced the federal government should be limited to such functions as common defense, medium of exchange, and interstate commerce. Anything else they consider more menacing than a man-eating tiger.

The Swiss cannot understand the indolence or indigence of any man who would accept charity while there was ground available to grow food.

Each Swiss "state" assumes responsibility for the natives from birth to death if they NEED help. But the needy person must return to his birthplace to get that help. Think what that policy would do for America.

The Swiss are appalled at the U.S. court system that has the power to strike down residence requirements for getting relief. But they still have a government of the people, instead of a government of the powerful.

Switzerland has found an alternative to dividing the wealth: divide the work. Irving Howard recommends the same for America.

stock in the company.

In his answer, filed Friday, Knowles says he sold the stock to Ladd and Gates with the "express understanding, as set forth in the written agreement, that such stock would be assigned to the plaintiff immediately after the transfer of such stock is permitted by Agricultural Computing Company and its transfer agent."

Knowles' answer further states that he purchased the stock from an original stockholder with the same understanding.

"Plaintiff made such purchase as a speculative investment in anticipation that Agricultural Computing Company would go public, at which time such stock would be freely transferred and a substantial profit could be made on his investment, but plaintiff fully understood that the company might not succeed in going public, that the stock might not become freely transferable, that he might not realize any profit from his investment and in fact might lose his entire investment," the answer alleges.

"The fact is Agricultural Computing Company did not succeed with its public registration, its stock declined in value and by reason thereof plaintiff has not made the profit he had hoped to make on his speculative investment," it states. "Plaintiff now seeks to hold defendant responsible for his loss upon a theory of misrepresentation, which is wholly false and unfounded."

Knowles has been active in civic work for many years. He now serves on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Now Enters Purcell In Mud-Slinging

BY CARROLL WILSON

Up to this time, Congressman Graham Purcell has refrained from mud-slinging, a tactic his opponent, Bob Price, has employed with impunity through the latter days of the campaign for the House seat from this district.

Now, I understand, the stops are being pulled and Purcell will engage in mud-slinging.

I heard last week that Purcell has decided to tell all he knows about Price, whatever that may be.

A preview of what's to come may have been unfolded last week in Amarillo as a group backing Purcell aired a radio advertisement accusing by implication that Price's attendance record in Congress is poor.

The facts so far prove the opposite.

Innuendo has become a by-word for this campaign, which is being bitterly fought by both Price and Purcell.

Perhaps, in consonance with my theory expounded here before, Purcell is awakening to the fact that he's running behind. I still think the underdog has a high propensity to sling mud.

It remains to be seen what kind of campaign Canyon's five or six ministers are going to begin to ensure the local option election, which is almost assured of getting on the ballot in November, is defeated.

After discussing the ministers' attitudes with several church-minded people since Thursday, I've come to the conclusion that several of our local churches' leaders are short-sighted at best.

To call the local option election a moral issue is debatable.

To fight it as stringently as the local ministers are is of questionable value.

The real question to me is this: Why is it that the threat of liquor sales in Canyon fires the local ministerial alliance into a frenzy of effort, when, at the same time, moral issues which affect the entire nation are being debated heatedly in other quarters?

If moral issues could be placed in a ranking structure, which ranked each issue (like liquor sale, malnutrition, population explosion, the war in Vietnam) according to its real bearing on mankind, where would liquor sale rate?

In my books, it rates low on the scale of the things most urgently needed to heal the wounds of the human race.

Yet, it's an issue which brings the local ministers together, and which spurs the flow of money with which to fight.

I think our priorities are out of kilter.

All Men Created

BY JIM SANDS

Everyday, I become more and more convinced that all men are created. No, not created equal, just created.

Remember a fellow by the name of Eddie Miller? He was an All-Star shortstop with the Cincinnati Reds a couple of decades back and later moved over to toil under the colors of the St. Louis Cardinals.

I had occasion to play and coach with Miller during his waning years and we often talked about the game, the whos, whats, hows and whys of the men who play for money. One subject that always interested me was the fact that the players with the most natural ability were not always the ones who ended up in the big time and managed to stay there. I once asked the good-field, seldom-hit Miller how he had managed to make it to the top and, more to the point, how he had been able to ward off the annual onslaught of rookies intent upon taking away his livelihood. He answered:

"I always figured that I had average natural ability, worked a bit harder and was a heck of a lot luckier."

And that's what Eddie Miller used to tell groups of young hopefuls as he traveled around the country conducting baseball clinics, always pointing out that hard work and taking advantage of the breaks were often more important than any inherited ability.

Speaking of baseball, I noticed a few days back that the immortal Ted Williams had been dropped as manager of the Texas Rangers. Now that in itself is not an earth-shaking bit of information but it did remind me that the saga of the Boston slugger is a great example of a poor skinny kid going a long way with limited resources.

Williams, possessing keen eyesight and above average coordination, put in a lifetime of hard work and practice to become one of the most successful, if not the most popular, players of all time.

And speaking of Williams and being unpopular. . . his being inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame brought out the seldom seen side of the news media, often accused of "being one-way" and favorable only to those who "cooperate."

When Williams first became eligible for a niche among the greats of the game, the sportswriters and sportscasters wasted no time in giving him their unanimous vote for admittance.

And these were the same gentlemen of the press and air who for 20 years had been the targets of a verbal assault meted out by the star who apparently considered newsmen about one step lower than a mole's nose.

Chalk up one for the media please.

I suppose you have already seen the service station sign advertising their "Rabbit Gas." Seems they claim it's just the thing for those "short hops."

until the Thursday climax, he worked his way into the confidence of at least 20 alleged narcotic violators, many in the heretofore untouched Negro section of Northwest Amarillo.

According to one ranking officer, this was the first time an undercover operative "would work the Heights."

It was also the first time a team of agents had worked the area for drug violators. "We've always wanted to use two men but were never able to," said one officer. The two-man team was working out of the Texas Department of Public Safety Narcotics Division.

The agent working undercover for the Metro Squad, or more precisely, the Amarillo Police Department, had at one time been a member of that department. He had also been a member of at least two Panhandle area sheriff's departments and is now employed as a deputy in another county agency in the Panhandle.

Paul Hulsey, chief of the Amarillo department, and other agency heads would not elaborate on the undercover agents or their activities. Potter County Dist. Atty. Tom Curtis, through his assistant, Kerry Knorpp, forbade any contact with the agents by newsmen. Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said he had no objections but Curtis claimed that such disclosure would jeopardize court cases.

When questioned about problems and "close calls" in regard to agents being exposed during the investigation, officers claimed that it was the "smoothest" of any of the previous operations.

It was said that one agent feared that he had "lost his cover" when Potter County sheriff's deputies pulled up to a house occupied by the agent and several of his suspected friends. They thought the agent had "rattled" on them and that the deputies were making a raid. "Everything smoothed out when the suspects discovered that the deputies were only serving an eviction notice," said the spokesman.

One of the agents said that one of the more distasteful parts of the operation was "the cruddy-type associates" he was forced to live and deal with.

Despite the fact that the two agencies "dove-tailed" their investigations, the city officer did not know that the two state agents were working undercover. It was not made known whether or not the state agents knew of the city agent's actions.

During the night, and while the arrests were being made, two other young men not named in warrants were taken into custody by Amarillo police, both the victims of unusual occurrences.

In the first such instance, a young man called police to report that his parked car had been struck by a hit and run driver. When officers investigating the crash inspected the damaged vehicle, they found what apparently proved to be a pipe filled with marijuana.

A short time later, another police unit stopped a speeder and while writing a citation saw a small bag inside the car. They checked and found that the contents of the bag was marijuana. Noting that the bag "was cold," one of the officers said, they obtained a search warrant, went to the young man's home and found four "lids" of marijuana in the refrigerator.

Both young men were jailed pending further investigation.

At one point early in the arrest schedule, a woman came to the police station and asked if her son was in jail. When she called his name, one officer checked the list of suspects to be rounded up and replied that "he probably was."

"Well, I wish you'd tell the police that he's in jail," she said. "Policemen have been to my house three times tonight looking for him and I know he was in jail at one o'clock this afternoon."

Her son, apparently, was one of two suspects already in jail for other violations when the raid began.

Attendance...

serves on five subcommittees "and since two or three of these hold weekly meetings it's humanly impossible to be in all those places at one time."

The aide said Congressman Teague, who introduced into the Congressional Record the reprimand of Price, is the chairman of the science and aeronautics committee and has the lowest attendance record of any member of the Texas delegation in the House.

Price currently serves on the agriculture committee and the livestock and grain subcommittee with Pucell.

In comparing overall Congressional attendance on the floor of the House, The News found conflicting figures.

Price's office says Price has an attendance record on the House floor of 90.4 per cent. They say Pucell has an attendance record of about 69 per cent "the second lowest of any man in the Congress from Texas."

Pucell's office on the other hand admits Price's record of 90.4 per cent, but they say Pucell's record is around 86 per cent.

In a statement issued last week, Price blasted Pucell for his absence on the floor of the House.

"This week alone I voted on 10 major pieces of legislation which Pucell failed to vote on because he was absent," Price said. "He has the second worst attendance record in the whole Texas delegation."

Pucell's office, in presenting figures for attendance on the House subcommittee on livestock and grains, to which Price and Pucell belong and which Pucell chairs, said the Republican candidate was present 76 per cent of the time during the last session while the Democratic candidate was present 97 per cent of the time.

"Pucell has been calling meetings of his subcommittee when he knew Price would be out of pocket," one Price aide said.

Apparently, attendance information of congressmen serving on House committees and subcommittees is not viewed in Washington as public information. Such information must be got from the chairmen of the various subcommittees.

City Woman's Brother Dies

Charles B. Miles, brother of Mrs. H.D. Curtis of Canyon, died at 1 p.m. Friday in the Golden Age Rest Home in Amarillo.

He was 63 years old. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in the Assembly of God Church of Amarillo. Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Miles had lived at 1321 Smiley.

DeBord Case Goes To Trial In County

More than 40 cases are set for trial in Randall County court Tuesday and the first to be tried is expected to involve Melvin Glenn DeBord of Amarillo, charged with homicide by vehicle.

DeBord, represented by local attorney Harris Hampton, is expected to appear to face the charge, a result of the mid-April death of Richard Eugene Gunn at the intersection of Farm Road 2590 and 2219.

DeBord is currently free on $1,000 bond. An examining trial in the case was held in mid-July.

Junk Cars Going Out of Sight

With the enforcement phase of the City of Canyon's new junk car ordinance a week old, the police department reports that officers have encountered no major problems.

According to Chief Al Stewart, several abandoned cars have already been removed by their owners and some property owners have removed vehicles belonging to persons other than themselves.

"It's going real smooth so far," Stewart said of the warning period which began last Monday. As initially planned, policemen are going around the city informing property owners of violations and explaining the city ordinance which requires that abandoned or otherwise illegal cars be hauled off, housed inside enclosed buildings or kept out of sight behind six-foot solid fences.

If compliance is not forthcoming within 10 days of the officer's first visit, a registered letter will be sent to the violator giving him another 10-day period in which to comply without penalty. After that time, the city will have the vehicles removed at the owner's expense.

Plank...

the county committees in Randall, Carson and Potter counties will meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday in his office to decide whether Plank's name will be withdrawn from the ballot and another inserted.

In the meantime, County Clerk Hutton has the election process wheels turning full speed in his office.

"I'm getting ready to go to press," he said, "because I have it scheduled where I'm going to start mailing ballots Tuesday."

Hutton said the ballots will go to 130 county residents serving in the armed forces overseas.

"That means that this group of ballots, unless I get a change Tuesday, will have Rhett on the ballot," he said.

Romero's Master Jewelers is the place to go when you need your wrist watch, clock, or that special piece of jewelry repaired. With 20 years experience repairing high grade watches, clocks, and jewelry, Louis Romero certainly qualifies as an expert — and who wants less when such delicate and expensive items are at stake?

Romero's Master Jewelers is located at 2308 4th Ave. between the University Bookstore and the Brass Carriage. Erskine's Jewelry previously occupied this location.

Romero's also sells many fine lines of watches, clocks, and jewelry.

"We carry the best and if we do not have an item in stock a customer wants, we can get it," says Romero.

If you're thinking about buying such an item, Romero's is an excellent place because you can receive an expert opinion on the brand or type of item under consideration.

"Now is an excellent time to put an item on lay-away for a Christmas gift," suggests Romero.

Romero is especially proud of his fine selection of watch bands. By replacing a worn band you increase the attractiveness of the watch and may prevent it from being broken or lost, says Romero.

Louis Romero is always ready to help with an individual problem, such as taking a link out of a watch band or making a ring fit better, and may be consulted at his shop from 8:30 to 5:30 Monday through Saturday.

If you can not make it to his shop, you may call him there at 655-9931 or at his residence at 376-9004.

Hamner- Batenhorst Vows Are Spoken

Miss Deborah Ann Hamner and Charles Raymond Batenhorst were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony taking place Saturday afternoon in St. Mary's Catholic Church at Umbarger. Msgr. Schaffle officiated in the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Mitchell of Umbarger.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Batenhorst of Umbarger are parents of the bridegroom.

Vows were repeated before an altar flanked with arrangements of blue carnations and white gladioli.

Mrs. Vincent Raemakers, organist, played "A Time for Us" as prelude and accompanied Elaine Raemakers and Valerie Friemel as they sang "All That I Am," "They Will Know We Are Christians," and "We've Only Just Begun."

Miss Marion Batenhorst, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Batenhorst, another sister of the bridegroom, Miss Patricia Batenhorst, cousin of the bridegroom, and Miss Carolyn Sloan of Amarillo. They wore floor-length gowns of blue satin, accented with white lace at the empire waistlines. They each carried one single carnation with blue velvet streamers. The flower girls, Sandy Farmer of Clovis, N.M., cousin of the bride, and Jeanie Brorman of Adrian, niece of the bridegroom, wore gowns identical to the bridesmaids.

Johnny Batenhorst, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Groomsmen were Calvin Bell of Tucumcari, N.M., uncle of the bride, Mike Cook of Amarillo, and Joe Koch, cousin of the bridegroom. Robert Koch, cousin of the bridegroom was Usher. Ushers were Howard Koch, cousin of the bridegroom, and Roy Hollenstein. Ringbearer was Larry Dean Bell of Tucumcari, N.M., cousin of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, T.O. Bell of Tucumcari, N.M. She wore a formal bridal gown of white alencon lace and peau de soie, designed with sweetheart neckline and petal-point sleeves. Lace appliques adorned the bouffant skirt. A white satin bow held her mantilla veil of layered illusion. Her "something borrowed" was her wedding dress, made by her grandmother, Mrs. T.O. Bell and borrowed from an aunt, Mrs. Mike Farmer of Clovis, N.M. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in St. Mary's Parish Hall. The bride's table, laid with white lace cloth over blue, featured a four-tiered cake decorated with blue roses. Individual tables were centered with white vases, each holding a single blue carnation. Miss Cissie Minter of Bovina served the cake, and Mrs. Carle Hartman, Mrs. Bernard Hartman, and Mrs. Joe Fischbacher served coffee and punch. They were assisted by Juanita Hartman, Arlene Koch, and Donna Hartman.

The newlyweds left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a navy corduroy pantsuit with orange accessories. After Oct. 14 they will be at home at 1405 2nd Ave. in Canyon.

The bride is a student at Canyon High School. The bridegroom graduated from Canyon High School in 1970 and is now employed by Imperial Chevrolet Co. in Canyon.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T.O. Bell of Tucumcari, N.M.; the bride's great grandmother, Mrs. O.L. Hamby of Clovis, N.M.; the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Bell and family of Tucumcari, N.M.; an uncle, Calvin Bell of Tucumcari, N.M.; Mrs. Mae Hamner and Mrs. Mary Belt, the bride's grandmother and aunt of Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. John Brorman and family, the groom's sister and family from Adrian; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Artho and family of Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Prizlas and family of Dalhart; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Batenhorst and family of Dumas.

The serving table, covered with a white cloth edged in green and yellow daisy floral pattern, was centered with an arrangement of yellow and white daisies. Yellow and green napkins carried out

Harvest Season Reigns

By SUSAN DOLLE
OCTOBER IS HERE and with it comes a busy schedule for this farming community. The sugar beet harvest is in full swing with no quotas yet placed on the loads per day. Semi-irrigated maize is being harvested, while farmers are waiting for a late frost for the irrigated fields.

Pee Wee Eagles Hit Belmar 14-6

The Pee Wee Eagles, the only Canyon Kids Inc. football team seeing action during the past week, defeated Belmar 14-6 Thursday evening in a game played at Sam Houston in Amarillo.

Kevin Webber and John Fortenberry each scored on gallops of about 15 yards while the bantam Eagles were keeping Belmar away from the end zone.

Tim Henderson racked up a two-point conversion on the ground and failed in another attempt.

The Pee Wee Eagles will be idle until Oct. 22, when they take on Lawndale in a non-conference game at home. The league-leading charges of Max Brummett will take the field at 1:30 p.m. on that date.

Canyon's Purple People Eaters, coached by Bill Williams, play Coronado at Southlawn Park today at 1:30 p.m. Coach Van James will pit his Headhunters against Avondale today at 2:30 p.m., playing at Bonham Junior High.

The Cyclones, coached by Herb Hall, are idle until Oct. 15, when they tackle Maverick at home in a 2:30 p.m. game. On that same date, at 1:30 p.m., coach Don Rozel and his Cougars meet Sunrise at home.

News Brief

Dr. Charles Smallwood, dean of the school of agriculture at West Texas State University, was judge recently for steer and heifer shows at the 1972 Oklahoma State Fair in Oklahoma City.

ADDED TO THE harvest season are plans for the sausage festival November 12 and everyone is keeping busy.

COLUMBUS DAY NEXT Thursday will be marked by a radio presentation of KCAN from 12:15-12:30. Presented by the Knights of Columbus Council of Umbarger, the program will feature a talk by Supreme Knight McDevett.

SCHOOL CHILDREN STILL learn the story of Columbus, but slightly modified. My daughter was singing a song about how Isabella furnished the money and Columbus sailed away, yo, ho.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE who belong to the CYO at St. Mary's Church have scheduled several upcoming activities. This Sunday evening, they will sponsor an evening of bingo and games for the community in the parish hall. Money prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served beginning at 7:00.

ON OCTOBER 21, a Western Dance will be held with teenagers and adults invited to attend. Lou Hurt will provide the music.

REV. O'CONNOR OF St. Joseph's Church in Amarillo will give a day of recollection for the youth on October 29. Teenagers from surrounding parishes have also been invited to attend the afternoon function.

DR. MARION GUIDRY, pathologist and scientific researcher with West Texas State University, presented a program on abortion to the Altar society last Tuesday evening. Dr. Guidry defined the various kinds of abortion and referred to the medical, legal, and moral aspects of the abortion issue. He answered questions from the group to conclude his presentation.

MRS. RICHARD E. Friemel presided at the business meeting which followed. She recognized the guests in attendance. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Raymond Batenhorst, Mrs. Sylvester Batenhorst, and Mrs. Bill Bauer.

HOME ON LEAVE from the U. S. Air Force has been Charlie Stocker, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Stocker. After October 15, Charlie will again be in San Antonio, where he is studying languages.

NUTRITIONISTS HAVE INTENSIVELY studied cattle in the past few years as well as other animals. The least-studied has been man, because of his long age-span. A wait of seventy years is necessary before deciding that a man had a proper diet. Moreover, cattle are restricted to the proper diet of sorghum, corn, and molasses regardless of whether they have a yearning for green wheat. Man, on the other hand, cannot be restricted; he has a free choice of whether to eat less meat, more strawberry shortcake, or indulge in too much alcohol, tobacco, or marijuana. May the cattle have an easier way to good health than free-choosing man does.

TOMORROW, IN OBSERVANCE of Columbus Day, the Umbarger Post Office will be closed except for window service from 8-10 a.m.

Prevention Week Activities Few

Today through Saturday is Fire Prevention Week in Canyon and all across the country. It is a period set aside each year to make Americans more aware of fire dangers and fire safety and to show appreciation to the nation's firemen.

In Canyon this year, there will be less planned observance activities than in previous years, a fire department spokesman said this week. This was due to the city having a new fire marshal who has not been on the job long enough to plan a complete program.

The city fire marshal, Blakley Fargason, has only been in his present position since August 1. He did say that a planned program of events would be set up for the observance next year.

According to Deputy Chief Joe Rice, "Setting up a fire prevention program takes a lot of time and work."

One annual event to be held this year will be visits to the Canyon fire station by several groups of kindergarten students. The pre-schoolers will be given a tour of the facility and get a chance to see the firefighting equipment and talk to firemen.

During the visits, which should include 10 or 12 classes from Canyon and the area, the children will be quizzed on whether or not they know how to turn in a fire alarm and will be instructed on simple safety precautions regarding fire.

On Oct. 11, members of the volunteer department will hold a fire drill for the purpose of getting acquainted with the new "manifold system" now being installed on one of the department's pumper trucks.

The practice session will be conducted on a city street and under actual firefighting conditions.

Also in the initial period, Mark Jackson and Ward teamed up on a 20-yard toss to make it 13-0 before Collier came through with his second conversion.

covering a distance of 60 yards. Collier again added the point after, giving the JVs a 21-0 edge as they broke for the half.

The final successful drive came in the third quarter and was climaxed when Ronnie Hicks dashed the last six yards into the endzone. Collier made it a perfect night, leaving the score 28-0.

The first, second and last

Miss Lee, Foster Exchange Vows

Miss Carla Dianne Lee and Gregory Kirk Foster exchanged wedding vows in a Friday evening ceremony at the Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel on the campus of West Texas State University. Dr. Dan Cooper of the First Baptist Church, of Shawnee, Oklahoma, cousin of the bride, solemnized the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Georgia Lee, 1121 Creekmore. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton H. Foster of Dalhart.

The altar was centered with a bouquet of large white chrysanthemums and blue cushion pom poms, backed by a fifteen branch arched candelabrum entwined in greenery. Two spiral candelabra stood on either side. Floor baskets of mums and two seven branch candelabra, all entwined with greenery and bearing blue tapers, flanked the steps ascending to the altar area.

Lighting the candles were Gary and Randy Cooper, cousins of the bride.

Miss Joy Jones played traditional wedding selections before the ceremony and accompanied Gene Vaughn Morrison as he sang "There is Love," "One Hand, One Heart," and the "Wedding Prayer."

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Gail Fite of Canyon, and Mrs. Karen Foster served as bridesmaid. Flower girl was Miss Camye Wood of Dallas, cousin of the bride. The attendants wore floor length formal gowns of powder blue chiffon over taffeta, with royal blue velvet empire bodice with French sleeves cuffed in the royal blue velvet. They carried nosegays of white roses, blue pom poms, mums, royal blue baby's breath, and blue Frenched carnations with a cascade of light blue satin streamers tied in love knots. Their hair was caught in the back with white roses and blue ribbon.

Gary Porter of Dalhart served as best man and Richard Gallo of Dalhart was groomsman. Ushering were Jay and Mike Foster of Dalhart, brothers of the groom, and Gary and Randy Cooper, cousins of the bride. Timothy Wood of Dallas, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Benny Cooper, wore the wedding gown that had been worn by all the granddaughters of her maternal grandmother. The traditional wedding gown was a white floor length gown of rosepoint lace over French tulle and satin. The bodice was fashioned of rosepoint lace and styled with a scalloped neckline and a long fitted waist that came to points in front and back. The tightly fitted sleeves extended to petal points over the bride's hands. Tiny lace-covered buttons fastened the back of the gown and also the sleeves. The bouffant skirt of scalloped rosepoint lace was covered with tiered ruffles of the matching scalloped lace and alternate ruffles were of the French tulle. These flowed to a French train in the back. The fingertip bridal veil was of imported scalloped illusion. The bride carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis, white carnations and baby's breath accented with touches of blue. For something old, the bride wore the gold wedding band of her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Colebank of Tucumcari, N. M.

After the wedding ceremony a reception was held on campus at the Methodist Student Center. The bride's table was laid with a white organdy bridal cloth with blue satin ribbon interlacing the narrow lattice work trim. The four-tiered wedding cake on swan pedestals was decorated with a scroll design and topped with a nosegay of white roses and blue baby's breath. A five-branched candelabrum, bearing blue tapers, entwined with ivy and encircled at the base with nosegays of white roses and blue cushion pom poms centered the table. A silver punch bowl completed the table appointments.

Miss Janna Johnson and Miss Debbie White, Chi Omega sisters of the bride, served cake and punch.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride was wearing a navy, white trimmed knit dress with navy accessories and white corsage. The couple will be at home at 901 Margaret in Dalhart.

The bride is a graduate of Canyon High School and was an elementary education major at West Texas State University where she held membership in the Chi Omega social sorority and in the Sigma Nu Little Sisters.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Missouri Military Academy and attended West Texas State University.

The rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and out-of-town guests was hosted by the groom's parents.

Four To Vie For CHS Queen

Four Canyon High School senior girls were named Friday to seek the honor of being this year's Homecoming Queen and reigning over festivities during the homecoming period.

The four are Teddi Crager, Kathy Dees, Charlotte Tompkins and Cindy Williams. They were chosen by the student body from fourteen candidates nominated by the four home rooms at the school. Three of the four were introduced at a pep rally held in the school auditorium Friday afternoon. One girl was absent, a school official said.

Voting for the queen will be done by the student body on Tuesday. Crowning ceremonies are scheduled to be held Friday night just prior to the Eagle-Palo Duro football game to be played at the Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

In other homecoming activity, a bonfire and pep rally will be held Thursday evening just north of the school off 10th Street. Sometime during the late afternoon or early evening Thursday, a "car smash" will be held. At last report, the time and location of the auto wrecking event had not been determined.

On Friday night, another pep rally will be held at the stadium just outside the Eagles' dressing room. The time scheduled is 7 p.m., or just before the team takes to the field for warm-up.

Following the game, a social will be held at The Commons on campus.

Other than for a place of registration for visiting ex-students, no formal or reunion-type activities are planned. The oldest former student and the one traveling the furthest distance in returning will be introduced to the student body during a Friday afternoon assembly.

Meeting Set To Discuss Counselling

A meeting for persons interested in forming a counselling service in Canyon will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Randall County Judge's office.

Several local residents are expected to attend the meeting to discuss formation of such a service for area families and individuals.

The meeting is the outgrowth of a meeting last week between County Judge Woody Pond and the Rev. Baldwin Stribling.

The Rev. Mr. Stribling met with Pond to discuss the need for a counselling service here and the methods of forming such a service.

The local pastor sees a need in Canyon for a volunteer service which provides counselling in matters of family problems, financial problems, legal problems and related areas.

The Rev. Mr. Stribling is the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Canyon.

Eagles Whapped By Pampa

Canyon's Eagles met a defense as tough as their own and an offense even better as they lost their fifth straight game Friday night to Pampa's Harvesters 27-7 in Pampa.

Playing without the use of injured Bill Moore, talented backfield runner, the Eagles were paralyzed during the first half of Friday night's game and recovered only lamely in the second half.

The rugged Eagle defense was handed the bulk of the work Friday night as they tried to contain speedy Harvester halfback Richard McCampbell and quarterback Rick Leverich.

The Eagle offense, which is depending heavily on a pass and sweep maneuver combination this year, faltered as quarterback Ed Lair connected on only five passes.

The first Pampa score came with just three minutes gone in the game after one of Lair's passes was intercepted by McCampbell on the Eagle 44 line and run back to paydirt.

Throughout the remainder of the first quarter of play, the Eagles and Harvesters fought for field position with neither team able to make the big play to score. Then late in the second quarter, the Pampans took over the ball on their own 35 and dug in, driving up the middle to eke out important yardage. McCampbell plunged through the center of Canyon's line once more for three yards and the second Harvester score.

The extra point was blocked by Terry Slagle and the Pampa team led by 13-0 with 4:25 remaining in the initial half.

With only four minutes remaining in the third quarter, the Eagles put their own mark on the scoreboard, giving Eagle fans a slight hope of a comeback and possible win.

Taking the ball on their own 35, the Eagles drove on the ground and in the air to score on a Gary Bendora run for seven yards and paydirt.

In the next series of downs for Pampa, the Harvesters drove from their own 42 to score in 10 plays. McCampbell again drove through the middle of the line for the five-yard touchdown.

With 59 seconds showing on the third quarter clock, the Harvesters led 20-7.

The final Pampa score came with less than 2 minutes remaining in the game. It was set up by an interception of a Lair aerial. The Pampans drove 56 yards in five plays to score with Mike Robbins making the final three yards.

up the middle of the line.

The Harvester defense held Canyon to just 21 yards total rushing during the first half of play and the Eagles were unable to muster a first down until midway through the third quarter of action.

The Eagles were held to 153 total yards rushing with Lair making 87 of those in the air.

The Harvesters netted 11 first downs during the outing and tallied 249 total yards rushing. They made 14 of those yards in the air.

Leading ground gainer for the Eagles was Matt Hanson with 31 yards. He was followed by Bendorz with 21 and Lair with 8.

McCampbell paced Harvester rushing with 76 total yards. Leverich made 51 yards on the ground.

Lair hit on five of 23 passes and had four intercepted.

The Eagles will try for their first win of the season at 7:30 p.m. Friday when they meet another AAAA school, Palo Duro's Dons in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

Baggarly Says Vote Democrat

People shouldn't listen to what the presidential candidates are saying but should vote for the party rather than the man, H.M. Baggarly told a meeting of West Texas State University Young Democrats on the WTSU campus Wednesday night.

Baggarly is editor of The Tulia Herald and is considered a spokesman for Texas Democrats. In effect Baggarly said campaign promises by either candidate don't mean a thing but that the party is everything.

He indicated that 75 percent of the electorate does not realize that the party is more important than the topics discussed during the heat of a political campaign.

Earlier Baggarly had purported to trace the history of the Republican Party back to Alexander Hamilton, the first treasurer under George Washington.

He said Hamilton and the "Republicans" did not believe the masses capable of voting intelligently.

After his talk he was asked if he hadn't said about the same thing in his assertion that 75 percent of today's electorate is too ignorant to recognize the real issues.

"I guess so," he replied. Baggarly said the party in power affects the welfare of the country more than the man in power.

He said the Republicans favor a trickle down philosophy where things are made easy for the rich with prosperity supposedly trickling down to the economic stratas below.

Conversely, he said, the Democrats favor strengthening the economic position of the middle class.

He declared that Republicans are more concerned with property than with people. "Where people vote for the man instead of the party, you find ignorance," the Tulia publisher declared.

He hailed Graham Purcell as a supporter of George McGovern for president because he, Purcell, believes "the Democratic Party is best for the people."

Actually, Purcell's public support of the Democratic nominee has been confined to saying he will vote for McGovern and this only to preserve his seniority in the House of Representatives.

"I'm going to vote a straight Democratic ticket in November myself," Baggarly concluded.

Student Hurt In 1-Car Wreck

A 19-year-old West Texas State University student, Steve Stone of Friona, was injured about 1:40 p.m. Wednesday when the car which he was driving overturned on U. S. 87 at the McCormick Road overpass.

Investigating officers of the Department of Public Safety said

Six outstanding homes, designed and furnished as ideal settings for the life style and interests of those living in them, will be on parade next Sunday afternoon from 2-6 p.m. when the University Study Club presents the "Annual Tour of Homes."

Tickets may be purchased from members or at the door for $1.00.

The homes to be shown are the George Blackwells' at 702 Taylor Lane, the Jim Perrys' at 2816 7th Ave., the Charles Smallwoods' at 2505 12th Ave., the Larry Brandons' at 1102 Creekmore, the Dudley Moores' at 11 Southridge Dr., and the A.L. Crosslands' at 1400 Creekmore.

Rooms of the Perry home, designed by Jim with suggestions by Jeannette, frame a large, enclosed L-shaped swimming pool and play area that can generously accommodate the lively activities of their two sons, Churk, 11, and Jamie, 9. From the living area, glassed in and lightly curtained, an anxious parent may still keep an eye on swimmers. A 20-foot square patio area opens onto the garden, and another entrance leads conveniently to a bath for changing. Jim Perry has added colored wall lamps from Mexico along with underwater lighting that make it, he says, "a lovely picture at night."

In addition, a paneled billiard room, carpet and upholstered in peacock blue, with pass-through from the kitchen area, provides another recreational area. All blend perfectly with the Mediterranean furnishings of their sunken living room.

At the Crossland home—architecturally one of Canyon's most striking homes—a light and spacious, enclosed garden patio reflects the "green thumb" interests of Mrs. Crossland. In one corner she has created a beautiful rock garden with fountain, pool, and leafy plants. Those interested in indoor plants will admire a huge

Buff Morris To Be Consultant At Child Migrant Workshop

Milton "Buff" Morris, executive vice president of Opportunity Plan, Inc., will be a consultant at the 10th annual Texas Child Migrant workshop in McAllen, Monday through Wednesday.

Sponsored by Texas Education Agency for personnel in the child migrant program, the workshop will be attended by about 2,800 administrators, teachers, teacher aides, and ancillary personnel involved primarily in teaching Mexican-American children whose parents are agricultural migrants.

Morris was invited to the workshop by its director, Lee C. Frasier, Austin, to conduct sessions on the subjects of scholarships and resources. He was, for several years, director of student financial aids at WTSU. He originated the independent loan fund, later chartered as the Opportunity Plan, Inc., 19 years ago while directing the Ex Student Association. In 1967 he was named Amarillo's Man of the Year because he had "worked at his plan until it made a college education available to hundreds of deserving young people."

He has dispersed more than $2 million among some 3,000 students through his no-interest loan plan.

Morris and his wife left Saturday for the conference. They will be joined Monday by a WTSU Opportunity Plan student, Aurora Salinas. Aurora, a senior elementary education major, will speak to the workshop groups as a part of Morris' presentation. A 1967 graduate of Hereford High School, she had for six years been an agricultural migrant from Mission to Hereford—or whatever area held the most promising jobs for her and three older sisters. She was advised that she could not succeed in college because of her inadequate educational progress.

Aurora will explain her experiences in college as an OPI student, her encouragement from Morris and the OPI staff, and her determination to earn a degree and teach other Spanish-American students.

Mrs. Smallwood has purposely reserved plentiful open floor space in her workshop-recreation room in order to accommodate large groups of people with ease. "I can set up six small tables in there at a moment's notice—just what I've always wanted," she explains.

Members of the University Study Club will be stationed as hostesses in each of the homes to point out interesting features. Refreshments will be served at one of the homes.

Those taking the "Annual Tour of Homes," next Sunday afternoon, 2-6 p.m., will see the spacious, enclosed garden patio room of the A.L. Crossland home at 1400 Creekmore.

Mrs. Crossland, above, created a rock garden with fountain and pool in one corner of the room.

Coach Expected Tough Game

About 27 members of the Buffalo Booster Club Thursday night heard Coach Gene Mayfield say that this weekend's encounter with Southern Mississippi at Hattiesburg would be "a hard game."

Mayfield said that he expected his Buffs to make a good showing against the team which lost to Ole Miss by four points last weekend.

According to the coach, Southern Miss. has an exceptionally good punter who could cause problems for the Buffaloes.

While viewing both the offensive and defensive plays on film Thursday night, Mayfield had words of praise for his entire team. Because of the fine defensive showing, a spokesman said, the entire game film was shown.

According to Mayfield, Lamar University last weekend had suffered from fumbles and mistakes in the same manner as the Buffs had done in losing to Drake at the opening of the season.

Eddie Knowles, who presided over the gathering, said each member was asked to bring a guest to the next meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank. Everyone is welcome whether they are members or not, Knowles said.

An Eagle back prepares to crash to the ground as he is clasped by a Pampa Harvester defender during Friday night's game which saw Canyon lose 27 to 7.
